

Senorita (John Baker ©)

Senorita, strong and so proud
Your feet are barely touching the ground
You wear the night with a crown of stars
I've been sitting here in a trance
I've been wondering, watching you dance
Where did you learn to move like that...oh yeah

Chorus

The moon would be higher still
And it would give him the greatest thrill
If he could caress your face with his light
His search has spun him around
And turned him upside down
All in your blue green eyes
Senorita

Senorita don't pass me by
Your silhouette has captured the sky
Where will you be later tonight I ask?
Theres a secret behind your eyes
In the way that you wear the night
Draped around your shoulders so right...oh yeah

Chorus repeat